Dear Sir:--Yours of Aug. 7th, reached us today, and you state in it that you return our check for ~~$27.00~~ 27.62, which we recently sent you for some gold coins that you quoted to us. I will state, however, that there was no check in your letter when we opened it. It is possible that you forgot to enclose it, and it will be all right if you credit our account with that amount, as the items that we have sold from the last invoice that you sent, amount to about that sum. See list enclosed We thank you for the permission to retain the coins until the end of Sept., and think by doing so we can sell some more of them.

Business is quite light with us during the hot weather, and I do not think we need anything more in the coin line at present, but thank you for your kind offer to send them.

Please look up the matter of the check, so that in case it has been lost it can be straightened out. A stamped envelope is enclosed for your reply.

Dear Sirs:--Answering yours of recent date. Underseparate cover we send you two copies of our Catalogue for the sale of November 15. The 1838 dollar that we offer therein is the only one that we have in stock, and it came from the Dexter collection purchased by us in Denver recently. There is no limit on it and the highest bidder gets it. It is a brilliant proof, but shows a few marks where it has been touched. We ask $50. for the 1852 U. S. dollar, and a hundred dollars for the Birch Cent. We will send these two latter ones to you on approval, if you wish us to do so, and would like to have you make some bids on our sale.

We should be glad to have you send us catalogues of any Auction Sales that you hold in the future, and we will try to send in some bids.
